he has a friend who keeps calling his phone and hitting him up for money and he needs to pay her back. he wont pay her back. the friend wont leave him alone, will call him and text him. she calls his house and he doesnt want to talk to her, so he ignores her. my husband is a narcissist. he thinks he is a good person, and he has fooled me for many years. i had to leave him for good several years ago, and i keep hoping that he will get the help he needs, but he will never be honest with himself. he has told me that he is using drugs, i dont know if thats true. he has a friend that he hangs out with, and he does drugs with this guy. he does not want to tell his wife about it, and i know that he will not tell me. i think that he will get worse before he gets better. i used to have friends with this guy. he is now an addict. his ex girlfriend was an addict too. he is in denial about it. he has fallen off the wagon, and i can only hope that he will get the help he needs and get back on track. i was already dealing with the fact that he has a little girl. i have been in denial about the fact that his daughter is addicted to drugs too. my husband is a narcissist, and is about 40. he is in denial of it, and is not getting the help that he needs. he has told me that he has a child, and i have to believe that he is telling me the truth, but i am not sure. i do know that he has a new girlfriend, who is about 30, and has a baby daughter. thanks for your reply. im glad im not the only one to have this problem. i really did feel like im at the bottom of the barrel when i wrote this. but, i think i am finally finding out what im dealing with. i have been given advice from a good friend who is a marriage and family therapist. she said that he would never leave her, but that he needs someone who is good to him, who will be there for him, who will be honest with him, and who will be there when he needs her. i think hes looking for someone who will take care of him, but no one is willing to do that. i think i am helping him by telling him im leaving, and that hes a good guy, but that he needs to work on himself and stop hurting people. hes even told me that my leaving may be the best thing for him. he is very angry at me, because he cant see how he has hurt me.

he cant see that i am the one who is hurt. i tried to explain to him that i dont think hes really hurting me, i just dont think he loves me, and he has always been distant and uninterested, but its taken me until now to be able to articulate that. he always says he does, but thats not the same as saying i love you. i feel like i just dont understand how someone could treat me like this and then just expect me to move on. but, thats not what im going to do.

he is clearly a narcissist. i would rather not have to deal with people like him. he doesnt deserve the dignity of a normal conversation or a civil relationship. i dont know how you do it, but i wouldnt wish this on anyone. i tried to help a man i thought was my soulmate but he was a narcissist who used charm and manipulation to make me believe he really liked me. he never did, he just wanted to get his hooks into me. he was a sadist and monster. he was charming and seemed to be a nice guy. that was a lie. he was not a nice guy. it took me some time to figure this out. unfortunately, i dont think he ever understood that what he did was wrong. he got me in his grips and was convincing. i tried to get away and realized that i was getting nothing. i didnt have one friend left and even though i had strong family ties, they were falling apart. i had to divorce him and its been the hardest thing i ever had to do. i know i am not the only one he has done this to. what makes it really sad is that he has lots of friends. i do not know how he is able to be so charming and manipulating. i dont understand why people dont see this for what it is. i had a guy like this in my life. he was always on my case about how he didnt understand why i didnt like him, i didnt know what to do. i had it bad. he had a lot of friends, lots of money and i was always the one who was having problems. it really took me a long time to come to the realization that he was a narcissist and i was being played like an idiot. he was charming and kind at first, but he did not care about me. he was just trying to get what he wanted. sometimes i think he even enjoyed playing this mind game. he knew his friends would see me as a loser and he would use that to his advantage. he did this with every girlfriend i was with. i just accepted it. now i see it for what it is. i am just glad that i am in a healthy relationship. i wont accept it from anyone else. it is sad, but life is what it is. im just thankful i have the freedom to choose who i want to be with and who i want to be around. i am secure enough to think for myself. i hope you can find that too.
